

Triennial Report March 2017 for Guilden Morden

We have continued to meet on the second and last Sundays of the month. During the time since our last report one of our members has moved to Chichester and attends meeting there. Another member splits their time between Stevenage meeting and us. An attender who had been unable to attend regularly is back with us and we are pleased to see her again. We have also acquired two members who transferred from another meeting in the area. During the last year our attendance at meeting dropped and at times we only had two members present. However since the beginning of this year our attendance has increased for which we are much pleased, as we had wondered whether we might have to close the meeting. Last year we didn't have any social evenings and it began to feel as if the heart was going from the meeting.

As has been said in other reports we do not have a building and this still continues to free us to put our energy into Area Meeting.

At the meetings extracts from Advices & Queries are read ours is a simple meeting very often no ministry is given, just the silence and the sounds of the countryside around us.
